A grand entrance

Visitors to Saltire Court enter a generous five-storey-high space, an architectural nod to the grandeur of Edinburgh Castle – visible through many of its windows – but in a way that's fresh, modern and forward-thinking.

With its twin atria featuring an elegant reception area, this bright central hall is the hub of the building. The reception area has been crisply detailed and is within sight of the overhead walkways and internal windows on each floor.

Iconic Landmark

At the intersection of the arts and business district.

Inspired by the city's rich history

Saltire Courts' sweeping colonnade and grand circular tower form a memorable city landmark that unites the Exchange district and the restaurant and retail destinations of Princes Street and George Street.

Geographically at the interchange of the city's Old and New Towns, Saltire Court accesses the best of both worlds. The main Castle Terrace entrance looks directly over Edinburgh Castle and provides a link, through Princes Street Gardens, to the dining and shopping amenities of the St James Quarter, Princes Street and George Street. An additional entrance leads directly through the Traverse Theatre into the business and amenity of Lothian Road.
